THE CONSTITUTION.

Published Daily and Weekly.
ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION is published every day in the week, and is delivered by carriers in the city, or mailed, postage 12¢, at $1 per month, $2.50 for three months, or $10 a year.

THE CONSTITUTION is for sale on all trains leading out of Atlanta, and at news stands in the principle southern cities.

ADVERTISING RATES depend on location in the paper, and will be furnished on application.

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, JANUARY 11, 1885.

INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states at 1 a.m.: partly cloudy weather and local rains in the southern portion, fair weather followed by increasing cloudiness and local rains in northern portion, falling barometer, easterly winds, slightly warmer, preceded in northern portion by a slight fall in temperature.

The death of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines removes a woman who has been more prominent in American litigation than any other on record.

KELLY'S New York organ, The Star, has collapsed and announced the suspension of its daily edition. The Sunday issue will be continued. Too much politics.

The house has at last passed the naval bill, with apparent satisfaction to both parties. About $15,000,000 covers the amount, and the country will now breathe more freely.

THE CONSTITUTION of to-day is a mirror in which is reflected the rapidly returning confidence in business circles. The back of the panic is practically broken, and better times are in sight.

The George Mormons have concluded to form a new colony on the Pacific coast, and a movement is on foot to stir up Georgia on this issue. The Tennessee method has not struck Georgia, and the elders seem determined in their purpose.

The New Jersey law-makers are trying to take away Robert Fulton's honors by giving another man the credit for inventing the first steamboat. The Jerseyman is said to have had a real steamboat on the Delaware river in 1787, twenty years before Fulton went up the Hudson on his primitive craft.

The appeal made by the commissioners at the New Orleans exposition to the different states of the union, is a strong and earnest paper, and should receive immediate attention. The great show has grown to be too magnificent a success to have failure staring it in the face almost before the gate hinges had time to open smoothly.

If you are not a subscriber to THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, have your name entered at once. The democratic administration will soon be in office. There is to be many changes, and to be posted you must keep up with the daily news. We have the most reliable correspondents at all important centers, and one issue will pay you in giving you information about what is going on. If you are not able to subscribe for one year send two dollars and a half for three months, or five dollars for six months.

THE GLADSTONE GOVERNMENT.

England is not merry. Her premier is sick; she seems to stand almost alone among the European powers, poverty-stricken Italy being her only ally in case of trouble over Egypt; Germany is openly unfriendly, and Russia is creeping closer to her Indian empire; and even in London itself dynasties are by no means scarce. But rich old England, ruler of the seas, has been pushed hard before, and she has invariably come out of trouble in as good condition as her enemies found themselves. Mr. Gladstone's cabinet has been crumbling to pieces, and he has been on the verge of political oblivion many times, in the columns of the opposition papers, but at the critical moment a tough old leader regains the confidence of the country, and goes on as if nothing had happened. He is by no means so bad off physically or politically as his enemies say he is.

The truth is, he is trying to convert the English people. Instead of land-grabbing he would have them do justice to all nations and all people, no matter how weak or humble they may be. The old spirit of aggressiveness and acquisitiveness he seeks to suppress, and to substitute for them a policy more in accordance with the spirit of the age. He seeks to accomplish this without resorting to war. It would be easy to agree with the European drift, and to seize either single-handed or in alliance with the Spanish. He succeeds in so far as those schemes relate to this continent; and nothing could more effectively demonstrate the extreme weakness and folly of the Arthur administration than this unauthorized appointment of American delegates to a conference that was called for the purpose of dividing a large slice of the African continent among the European powers. With such schemes the American people have no sort of sympathy, and the appearance of two so-called American delegates at the Congo conference is a disgraceful fact for which the American people are not responsible.

Meanwhile, we have an opportunity of washing our hands of the whole matter. Let congress institute an investigation, and learn, if possible, by what authority Mr. Frelighsen issued credentials to these so-called delegates. When this is discovered, the whole business may be disposed of by a resolution of censure.

WHERE HE CAN MAKE IT.

We note in the northern press a paragraph written by a good farmer in central New York in which he says that he can barely make a living, although he has a fine farm and a herd of one hundred superior cows. He can make more than a good living, out of the same resources, in Georgia. Here he can get land at $5 to $10 an acre, just as good as his land that costs $100 to $150 an acre. He can get farm labor here just as efficient, under sharp overseers, as any in the north at one-third the price. He can get open pasture for his cows nine months in the year, where now he gets it for but five. He can build and maintain barns and outbuildings, proving condition of Ireland, will help the ministry. The cabinet is no doubt in a critical position, but neither it nor the country is hopelessly drifting along; and if the premier recovers his health, we need not be surprised to see him recover also his popularity, and England her rightful place among the nations.

THE OCTOBER STATES.

Governor Hoadly in his annual message certainly expresses the views of all sensible men outside of Ohio, when he advocates the abolition of an October election day, and the adoption of the day in November "not nearly all the other states have adopted." "In October, 1884," says the governor of Ohio in his message to the legislature, "Ohio was regarded as a pivotal state by both parties. Each devoted its best energies to achieving success here, in order to promote its chances of success in November elsewhere. Large sums of money were contributed by citizens of other states and spent here, much in illegitimate if not illegal methods, to advance the cause of their favorites. Federal officers left their bureaus to take charge of the Ohio campaign. It cannot be denied that the exaggerated consequence thus given to the early election at the trial went to show that he was not Sir Roger Tichborne, but Arthur Orion, a Wapping butcher. Now that this conclusion has been shown to be a mistake, the claimant's friends assert that he must be the real Sir Roger. This may be as wide of the mark as any other assumption. The testimony at the trial showed that the claimant knew nothing of many things with which Sir Roger Tichborne was perfectly familiar in his childhood. People can never be convinced that a man could forget the most important points of the surrenders and education of his boyhood. Then it will be admitted of great difficulty to make the mark as any other assumption. SCROFULA—SKIN DISEASES.

An Afflicted Family.

While the writer was seated in the office of that excellent hotel, the Gilcher house, in Danville, Ky., some time ago, he engaged in conversation with one of the proprietors and learned the following interesting story: Mr. Frank Gilcher remarked:

"We are not in the old country. The 'Fatherland,' however, did not afford shade enough to hold my brother and myself to that country, and we drifted to America many years ago. My mother had inherited what is known in that country as the 'King's Evil,' here you call it scrofula. She had it in its worst form, and her children inherited it from her. This was always a source of sadness to her. She was willing to suffer herself, but to think of this fearful disease to her offspring seemed at times almost to break her heart. After suffering for many years she died from the effects of this horrible disease. Soon after one of my sisters, who had suffered untold misery from the same terrible affliction, also died. Other members of the household were smitten with it, and at last I fell a victim to the disease. For eight years I suffered untold agony in both body and mind. Great ulceration on both arms and legs. My neck and those were next attacked, and no one who saw me could doubt that I could possibly live. I had almost despaired of life myself, supposing that my fate was sealed. But the other members of the family who had suffered like me, All that medical skill could do was brought into requisition, but the disease beat all known remedies within reach. Iodide of potassium and mercury were freely used, but they only aggravated the disease and added fuel to the flame. In September last my wife was in Cincinnati, and friends, hearing of my condition, pressed her to secure a supply of Swift's Specific, which she did and returned home at once. I commenced to take it. At first the whole surface was covered with ulcers, but after taking the sixth bottle the sores disappeared save one on my toe, which you can see, and that is growing less every day. There never was a greater revolution in any man's system than that which was wrought in mine by the use of this wonderful medicine. The sores only remain to remind me of my former sufferings. I have no boasting in telling that if my family had had the benefits of this medicine several of them would be alive to-day. It has rescued me from the grave."

Mr. Gilcher is well known in the blue grass region of Kentucky, and is ready to answer all inquiries in reference to these facts.

For a Life-Time.

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 21, 1884.
I have suffered for years with an eruption breaking out at intervals all over my body. At times my hands would be useless, which were both painful and annoying. All other remedies had been exhausted, when my merchant here, F. S. Betts, induced me to try Swift's Specific. I took a bottle and could see that the sores on my hands were dried up, and the sores of several bottles I was entirely cured. My skin is now as fair and smooth as that of a newborn babe. This eruption was hereditary, as my father was similarly affected. He has also been entirely cured. I take great pleasure in recommending it to others who are similarly affected. I can vouch for it. It is all I claim to be. I consider it a Godsend to this generation, and my house shall never be without it.

J. D. ROSS.

Snatched from the Grave.

Mrs. Sarah E. Turner and her mother, Mrs. P. E. Bryan, for nineteen years residents of Humboldt, Tennessee, make the following statements as to the merits of Swift's Specific. Mrs. Turner's case is well known in that community. She says:

"I was stricken down three years with Erysipelas and erysipelas became a staple article of diet. It was broken down, my strength and appetite were gone, and I became as helpless as a child, being fitted to play by my friends. I was treated by the best physicians in the community with Iodide of Potash and the other usual remedies for such cases. I was given up to die by my friends. My sufferings were beyond description, and I had lost all hope of recovery. Last January I was induced to try Swift's Specific, having received a pamphlet from the company detailing its merits. The first half dozen bottles had the effect to bring back hope to my heart, and the thought of being well again brought joy and gladness to the household. I have taken altogether 42 bottles. The sores have all healed up and disappeared; my strength has returned, and I am able to do all kinds of housework." Swift's Specific, I hardly believe, snatched me from the grave, and I do not know how to be grateful enough for my recovery.

Mrs. SARAH E. TURNER.

I know that S. S. S. has saved my daughter's life. She was the most wretched looking object I ever saw when she commenced taking it perfectly helpless. I thank God that we ever heard of it. It has saved my child.

Patches.

Iodide of Potassium, one of the strongest of the minerals used in medicine, has produced much suffering in the world. Take for a long time and in large doses, it often causes diarrhea, impairs digestion, the stomach refuses food, and the patient declines in health and weight. Persons with blood or skin disease should be careful how they take these mineral poisons, in most instances the effect of them is almost permanently impair the constitution. To take the place of these poisons we offer you as a safe, sure, prompt and permanent relief from your trouble. Swift's Specific is entirely a vegetable preparation, and it is easy to convince you of its merit.

Twelve Years of Suffering.
I have been afflicted with scrofula for more than twelve years. Have and sores on me as large as a man's hand. I have tried every remedy, the universal verdict of the community was that the disease was a man's malady in less than three months. I had seen hundreds of physicians and quacks and ruined my system with mercury and poisons and suggested the use of Swift's Specific. I began to feel that I was just what I needed. In a very short time it relieved me and I never had another attack.

Colonel R. H. Jones, of Cartersville.

I was afflicted for nearly four years with eczema. The disease was severe, and I was treated by puritans. I was treated with various ointments. I used about thirty bottles and had no relief. Then I refused to take it, even after it was recommended to me. I was told at one time—such was my prejudice to the name of it—that it was good for me. I now believe it is the best relief I ever had. I have knowledge it did another thing for me. I had a sore on my knee. It was removed by a surgeon, and there has been no return of the disease since.

A Cripple Restored.

Some two years ago I received a boy (Lona White) into the orphan's home, now Macon, from Columbia, Mo. He was a crippled, lame creature. I have never seen anything like him. He had been deformed by scrofula, which had attended him from birth. About eighteen months ago I commenced giving him Swift's Specific, and several bottles had been taken and no visible results were seen. I began to despair, but continued the medicine. The deformity became apparent, and from that day to this it has been constant improvement in both body and mind. He is now about fourteen years old, and is one of the most intelligent boys known. I greatly believe that he will ultimately attain to the extent of this loathsome disease under the influence of Swift's Specific.

The two cases of syphilis which were treated some two years ago with S. S. S. shows no symptoms of return of the disease.

The audience can remain no doubt in reading the numerous testimonial of the press of the whole country. It is to be hoped that he will be enough to convince any one who would be inclined to sceptic in the matter.

The grand opening and dramatization of Rip Van Winkle, in its entirety, is superior to any we have ever seen.—New York Herald.

The Academy of Music was packed to the doors, and the audience was greatly pleased with the performance as Rip Van Winkle, the star of the Catechism. For years Mr. McWade's name has been mentioned in the annals of the theater, and it is to be hoped that he will be enough to convince any one who would be inclined to sceptic in the matter.

Chicago News.—Tuesday and Wednesday, for two nights and one matinee, will appear in the "Catskill" and in "Hunting," two late comedies. Fred Marsden, the well known successful dramatist, is now in America as a guest of the Cleveland Leader, another Ohioan born, John G. Nichols, of Toledo.

The academy was overcrowded last night, the lobby being filled with people unable to find room in the auditorium. Roland Reed is a great success in "The Devil," as well as elsewhere, and it was but natural that the audience should be large on the opening night. Thrown in with the comedy scenes were some of the most stirring of the action, showing that while enjoying the mirth of the play, the star audience was also deeply interested in the plot.
